

Eddy Roberto Carpio Sam

President of the Monetary Board and Banco de Guatemala

Eddy Roberto Carpio Sam is a Guatemalan economist with extensive experience in central banking, international financial institutions and senior management positions. He served as General Manager of Banco de Guatemala and, previously, as Advisor to the Macroeconomic Analysis and Forecasting Department of Banco de Guatemala. Between 2023 and 2025, he represented Central America as Executive Director at the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB) and IDB Invest, and subsequently, from 2025 to 2026, served as Counselor for Guatemala at both institutions.

During his tenure at the IDB and IDB Invest, he participated in the review and oversight of matters related to financial reporting, credit, market and liquidity risks, internal controls, institutional integrity and governance. He also served on several committees of both institutions, including the Audit, Policy and Evaluation, and Programming Committees, chairing the latter from July 2024 to June 2025. He also participated in missions to various Latin American countries aimed at assessing and evaluating the development impact of financing provided by these institutions.

Eddy Carpio developed his career at Banco de Guatemala from 2000 to 2023, during which time he held various positions, ultimately serving as General Manager of the institution. Throughout his career, he provided economic and financial advice, participated in the analysis of the effects of monetary policy, coordinated the preparation of technical opinions and documents and supported institutional relations with international financial organizations, including participation in meetings of the Group of Twenty-Four (G24).

Subsequently, in his capacity as General Manager, he was responsible for the overall management and administration of Banco de Guatemala, including the coordination and oversight of its departments, ensuring operational efficiency and the fulfillment of the institution's objectives.

In academia, Eddy Carpio has an extensive teaching experience at Universidad de San Carlos de Guatemala and Universidad Rafael Landívar and is co-author of research on inflation, exchange rates, economic growth and inequality.

He holds a degree in Economics from Universidad de San Carlos de Guatemala. He also holds a Master's Degree in Economics with a concentration in Financial Econometrics from Texas A&M University; a Master's Degree in Operations Research from Universidad Galileo; a specialization in Finance from Universidad de Valparaíso, Chile; and completed Banco de Guatemala's Advanced Studies Program with a specialization in Quantitative Methods. In addition, he has furthered his education through specialized studies in economics, finance and management.